

STATE BUILDING AT JAMESTOWN

Virginia Commissioner to Let Bids Friday and Outline Ceremonies.

BARR BIG OWNER IN COAL

Interested Also in the New Pier to Be Built at Newport News.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NORFOLK, Va., July 31.—The Virginia Exposition Commission will meet here Friday for the purpose of opening bids for the erection of the Virginia Exposition building, after plans prepared by Brees and Mitchell, of this city. Also at the meeting the contract for the construction of the building will be awarded. The commissioners also will consider the programme for the ceremonies attending the breaking of ground for the erection of the building. It is probable that this ceremony will take place at an early date.

Governor Swanson expects to attend the meeting here Friday.

The big Black Mountain Coalfields Company, recently chartered in this State, and of which Mr. J. M. Barr, formerly president of the Seaboard Air Line, is at the head, is expected to add greatly to the coal business of this port.

As the head office of the company will be in Norfolk, it is believed that the bulk of its business will be done here, although it is not improbable that some of its business will be done at the head office. It is known that Mr. Barr is interested in the big new coal pier now being erected there. Much local interest is taken in the company.

Mr. Barr was not at his home in this city today and no statement could be obtained from him concerning the details of his company. Mr. Barr, it is said, owns a majority of the stock of his company.

THE HANGING CLUB.

The hearing in the quo warranta proceedings to revoke the charter of the Crawford Social Club, of Portsmouth, of which S. T. Hanger is president, for selling soft drinks and tobacco on Sundays, demanded all the attention of the Court of Hustings today, as it did yesterday.

The Commonwealth examined a large number of witnesses and concluded its evidence, after which the defense put in some evidence. Attorney R. H. Bagby, and H. H. Wilcox represented the club, and made a hard fight, and Colonel Stewart represented the Commonwealth with equal zeal.

SPECIAL EXHIBITS.

Railroads Taking Interest in Jamestown Exposition.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NORFOLK, Va., July 31.—Mr. F. B. McKay, general freight and passenger agent of the Texas Midland Railway, with headquarters at Terrell, Tex., was a visitor at the Jamestown Exposition office today. He was taken to the exposition, and expressed surprise at the magnitude of the great enterprise.

Mr. McKay assured the exposition officials that the Texas Midland will do everything possible to aid the exposition in the way of sending Texans to Norfolk in 1907. The road, he said, will advertise the exposition and make tourists' rates to it that will permit many people to visit the Tenthentary, and that it will also divert as much as possible of its travel from the Norfolk point to New York by the way of Norfolk with stop-over privileges. He said it is possible that the rates to the Jamestown Exposition will be lower than those to any former exposition.

Buffalo, N. Y., is about to fall in line with many other large cities that are to have a similar exhibit at the Jamestown Exposition, and has appointed Mr. W. F. Wheeler as special agent to see that the Queen City of the Lake makes a creditable showing of its vast manufacturing and commercial industries and possibilities.

GOOD ROADS SPIRIT STRONG IN AMHERST

Big Mass Meeting in Favor of a Bond Issue.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
AMHERST, Va., July 31.—With the music of a brass band, with a crowd of about a thousand people present, with a display of eloquence on the part of local speakers, telling facts by those from a distance, with fine dinner, and ice water for drinking, the campaign in favor of the bond issue, which will be waged before the sovereigns of Amherst, was opened here today.

County Supervisor H. C. Joiner, also chairman of the Democratic party of the county, presided, and among the local speakers were W. K. Allen, O. L. Evans and C. J. Campbell.

Attorney John L. Lee, of Lynchburg, formerly of Amherst, spoke, urging upon the people of Amherst to vote in favor of the bond issue. He illustrated the value to the county such a road would be, both increasing the value of property and in attracting new settlers.

Mr. M. W. Richardson, land and industrial agent of the Southern Railway, made a brief and interesting speech. He called attention to the marvelous advance which the South had made in recent years, and said that no section of the country had made such progress along farming lines in the last ten years as had the South.

He said that the railroads were the life of the South, and that such roads would attract immigrants, and make our country much more desirable.

Mr. M. O. Eldridge, of the Good Roads Division of the United States Department of Agriculture, delivered an address on road-making, which he illustrated with stereoscopic views.

Mr. W. J. Hubbert, an engineer of the land and industrial department of the Southern Railway, also made a speech. At the conclusion of the meeting committees were appointed to take charge of the campaign at each precinct in the county.

The day was a decided triumph for those in favor of the bond issue. The election will take place August 18th.

ORDINATION.

Successful Church Entertainment—Fine Horse Lost.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
CARTERSVILLE, Va., July 31.—Mr. Stinson, pastor of the Baptist Church here, was ordained Sunday. The following ministers participated in the ordination ceremony: Rev. Dr. William B. Hatcher, Professor, Walton, of Fowhatan; Rev. Mr. Lawson, of Cumberland; and Rev. Mr. Winfrey, of Chesterfield.

The entertainment given in W. N. Rhodes's yard Saturday evening for the benefit of the Methodist Church, was a decided success. The entertainment was a delightful one with his comic songs and dialect readings. He was assisted in the entertainment by Miss Annie Mae Rhodes, as pianist, and five young ladies, who gave a play entitled, "The Severing Circle of the Period."

The evening was a very fine horse Monday night, which got down in the stable during the night, and in the morning, when he was found, was so weak from his continued efforts to rise that he soon died.

RAILROAD HAS RIGHT OF DOMAIN

Sensational Point Raised Against Norfolk and Western in Condemnation Cases.

DECIDES AGAINST THE ROAD

May Have to Secure an Undesirable Amendment to Its Charter.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
LYNCHBURG, Va., July 31.—A sensation was caused in the Circuit Court of Campbell county this afternoon at Lynchburg, when attorneys for land owners who are resisting the appointment of commissioners by the court for the condemnation of a right of way for the Norfolk and Western Railway for its twenty-two-mile cut-off around Lynchburg, argued that the company did not possess the right of eminent domain either under its charter or under the general statutes of the State. The question was argued at length by attorneys for petitioners and defendants, and Judge Barkdale indicated that he was inclined to the belief that the contention was a correct one; but when requested by the railway attorneys, he withheld his opinion until an adjourned session, to be held on August 15th, when the matter will be adjourned.

It is held if the decision be against the company, and it is sustained by the Supreme Court, that the company will have to secure an amendment to its charter, which it is said will make the charter much more undesirable to the company than the one under which it is now operating. It is not believed this contention will stop the work on the new construction, as it has gone too far for it to take this out-of-the-way cost the company two million dollars, and it has equally that much more work under way east and west of the cut-off.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
LYNCHBURG, Va., July 31.—The stockholders of the Lynchburg Fire Insurance Company, of Lynchburg, met this afternoon and decided to dispose of 16,800 shares of its stock at the bid of a local syndicate of one hundred above par. The stockholders will be given preference in the disposition of the stock, and the syndicate will take the remainder, if any. This gives the company capital and surplus of $600,000, and makes it the fourth largest of the Southern fire insurance companies, despite the fact that it is hardly more than a year old.

The company will shortly accept business in every State in the Union, and arrangements with that end in view being under way now.

BACK FROM GOLD FIELDS.

John and Joseph Shirley to Return to Virginia.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BALTIMORE, Md., July 31.—Two tall, robust men, with an unusual amount of gold, registered at the Hotel Junker yesterday as John and Joseph Shirley, of Nevada, and it did not require long for observant persons to learn who they were.

The brothers made frequent trips to the bar, and they did not hesitate to tell Mr. Junker they liked his liquors and that they had left their guns home.

"We're just running drunk," they said, "and we calculate on staying six weeks unless we find it necessary to run back here. We came from Heaverville—that is, we were raised there, but we haven't been home for nearly twenty-five years. Just a bit ago we decided to pack up and run down on the gold, so we're going to spring a big surprise there to-morrow."

"What is your home town now?" Mr. John Shirley was asked.

"I live in Silver City, but that's a long town," though I did live in Goldfield, the biggest city that ever happened in the world for its size. I went there two and a half years ago, when there was only one tent in the place. Inside of a year there were 10,000 people living there. My brother and I have several claims there, and we also have several in Silver City, which, despite its name, has all gold mines. Then, too, I am constable, but that's only for my own protection, because we run a saloon and a restaurant. My brother is deputy sheriff and we are getting along pretty well. It's a rough country, but I don't care much about civilization any more. Just a few weeks of this thing, and then I'll be home and just as good as back to my old life."

This morning, when the jailer came to open the door to the jailer's room, he found the prisoner had managed in some way to loosen the chain from the cell bar, unhandcuffed his wrists, pick a padlock, and gained entrance to the jail corridor. When the jailer happened to come upon him, the prisoner was at the outer door.

Meadows claims North Carolina as his home, and says he has been working on the Tidewater Railroad for some time.
